Bridgestone Supports Employee Voluntary Activities through Rural School Development Project

Phatumthani (2 April 2013), – Thai Bridgestone Co., Ltd. organized a rural school development project encouraging employee voluntary activities. During 29-31 March 2013 at Ban Bayao School in Banfang district, Khongkhaen province, the Smiling Tiger Group, formed by Thai Bridgestone employees, organized school development activities such as the maintenance of infrastructure, library renovation and donation of education materials. Additionally, Thai Bridgestone also provided the essential materials to refurbish the playground into a safer playing area for the school children.

Since 2000, the Smiling Tiger Group was formed by Thai Bridgestone's employees with the passion to give their volunteering effort to community and rural school development. Thai Bridgestone has been supporting and promoting employee voluntary activities through its social contribution projects and this rural school development project is just one of the many meaningful social contribution projects undertaken by Bridgestone. Bridgestone will continue to support such activities in order to play its role as a good corporate citizen in the Thai society.
